

A family poses in front of a local shrine that they have just visited. It is possible that this soldier chose to have his flag blessed prior to shipping out. His yosegaki hinomaru is attached to a striped wooden pole and its round, gold finial is in place. One of the gentlemen standing on the far right side appears to be wearing a Civil Defense badge on his left breast.